Declaration of our essential supplier status

To whom it may concern,

Genalog has been notified by many of its customers and the manufacturers we represent that it is regarded as an essential supplier. These customers/manufacturers have been deemed as an Essential Service by the Department of Trade and Industry under the UK government guidelines for one of the following reasons:

Medical Supply Chain — Components, cable harnesses, cable and wire and peripheries are used during the development and manufacture of medical equipment, healthcare and enabled care.

Covid-19 Response — Components, cable harnesses, cable and wire and peripheries are used for emergency equipment to treat COVID-19, e.g. respirators.

Defence Supply Chain - Components, cable harnesses, cable and wire and peripheries are used during the development and manufacture of critical defence equipment and machinery.
